Therefore, in order to not unnecessarily burden Sierra Chart engineers and take away time for our software development:

- Is there a need to post this question or request? Think twice before you post. And first make an attempt to consult the documentation.
- Can you rephrase it in a way which simplifies it or makes it more clear? Can you make it more short and concise? It is best to keep it short and concise and if more details are needed, we will ask for them.
- Have you included files which were not requested by Sierra Chart support and may be considered unnecessary? If so, then remove those.
- If you have multiple questions/issues which are closely related, then present only one since the answer will likely answer the other ones.
- If you are new user and you have a lot of questions, then start with no more than 2-3 at a time. And consult the documentation as much as possible. Any further questions at a time will not be responded to.
- Below you will be given the opportunity to post this as a User Discussion or Programming Help so it is presented to other Sierra Chart users and not Sierra Chart engineering. If Sierra Chart Support determines that it should be in either of these categories, this will be done for you and there will be no answer from us.
- Use the Save Draft button below to save this as a draft and think about it further.
- Do not provide to support, videos, multiple screenshots, Message Logs, excess
